

Don't have a weather station at home? No problem. For those who may not have a weather station you can find a Citizens Weather Observer Program (CWOP) station closest to you and report that stations information on the net. Here is a link to CWOP stations in your area. In New Mexico use <http://www.wxqa.com/states/NM.html> scroll down to your city, and then use the Lat/Lon locations to find the closest station. Once you are at the station scroll down to DATA STATUS and click on the FINDU link. At the top of the page you will find the information to report on the net. For Texas use <http://www.wxqa.com/states/TX.html> and do the same as above.
